Ostara Norther Hemisphere

Spring, or Vernal, Equinox is celebrated by Wiccans and Witches throughout the world. Spring Equinox (which is also known as Festival of the Trees, Alban Eilir, Ostara and the Rite of Eostre) is a fertility rite celebrating the birth of Spring and the reawakening of life from the Earth.

On this sacred day, Witches light new fires at sunrise, rejoice, ring bells, and decorate hard-boiled eggs--an ancient Pagan custom associated with the Goddess of Fertility.

The aspects of the Goddess invoked at this sabbath are Eostre (the Saxon goddess of fertility) and Ostara (the German goddess of fertility).

In some Wiccan traditions, the Green Goddess and the Lord of the Greenwood are worshipped on this day. Like most of the old Pagan festivals, Spring Equinox was Christianized by the Church into the religious holiday of Easter, which celebrates the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Honey Butter Carrots

- 1 pound baby carrots,* washed and peeled
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme, optional
- 1/2 tablespoon unsalted butter
- 1/2 tablespoon honey

Parmesan Asparagus

- 1 bunch thick asparagus, woody ends removed

- 1/2 teaspoon EACH: garlic powder, dried basil, dried thyme
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1/3 cup Parmesan cheese, freshly grated

Brown Sugar Pineapple Ham

Optional

- | | |
|---|----------------------------------|
| • 1 and 1/2 pounds Smoked Boneless Ham | • 1/2 large baguette, sliced |
| • 1 can sliced pineapples (reserve the juice) | • 2 tablespoons unsalted butter |
| • 1/4 cup light brown sugar, packed | • 1/2 teaspoon Italian Seasoning |
| • 1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard | • Fresh parsley, fresh lemon |

INSTRUCTIONS

Prepare two extra large sheet pans by lining them with parchment paper or buttering both pans. Arrange the oven racks so that one rack is the second down from the top and the other oven rack is the second one up from the bottom. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees F.

Start with the potatoes. Scrub clean and then thinly slice (1/8th inch thick) all the potatoes.

In a small saucepan over medium high heat, melt the butter. Briskly whisk in the flour and, whisking constantly, stir for 30 seconds.

While whisking constantly, slowly add in the milk and whisk until smooth. Allow to thicken.

Add in all of the seasonings. Salt and pepper to taste.

Stir in the sliced potatoes and then cover and reduce the heat to medium low. Allow to cook for 10-15 minutes, stirring occasionally, or until potatoes are fork tender. If needed, add a few extra tablespoons of milk.

Remove from the heat and stir in the cheddar cheese.

Arrange the potatoes on 1/3 of a parchment covered (or buttered) sheet pan. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese over the potatoes. Place the rest of the potatoes on top and then sprinkle with the remaining 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese.

Honey Butter Carrots & Parmesan Asparagus

Place the washed (completely dried) and peeled carrots on the sheet pan and drizzle with oil, salt and thyme (if desired). Toss to combine. Separate the carrots to one half of the sheet pan.

On the other side of the sheet pan add the asparagus (break off the woody ends). Pour the oil and seasonings over the asparagus and toss to coat.

Bake on the bottom rack for 10 minutes; stir veggies around, and bake for another 10-15 minutes or until the veggies are tender. Remove from the oven.

For the carrots: combine the butter and honey and melt in the microwave for 20-30 seconds. Pour over the carrots and toss to coat.

For the asparagus: top with the Parmesan cheese and a squeeze of fresh lemon if desired.

Brown Sugar Pineapple Ham: Slice the ham into thick slices. Place on the parchment lined sheet pan next to the potatoes. Place a pineapple slice on top of each ham slice.

In a small bowl, whisk together 1 tablespoon of the juice from the canned pineapples, 1/4 cup brown sugar, and 1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard. Whisk. Generously coat all of the ham with this mixture.

Bake the potatoes and ham on the top rack for 15-20 minutes or until potatoes are crisp and ham is thoroughly warmed through. Remove from the oven and add the baguette slices on the last 1/3 of the sheet pan.

Spread butter over each slice and sprinkle with the Italian seasoning. Cook for another 2-3 minutes or until the baguette is toasted and soft.

Remove from the oven and top the potatoes with fresh parsley if desired. Salt and pepper everything additionally to taste and enjoy immediately!

Mabon Southern Hemisphere

Mabon on or around March 21, in the Southern Hemisphere.

For many Pagan and Wiccan traditions it is a time of giving thanks for the things we have, whether it is abundant crops or other blessings.

The mid-harvest festival, a time of balance and reflection, following the theme of equal hours of light and dark.

Take a few moments to honour the changing seasons and celebrate the second harvest.

Celebrate Mabon by decorating your altar with the colours and symbols of the late harvest season.

Astrology: The Story of the Chinese Zodiac

By Rev. Winterghost

A long time ago, in China, the Jade Emperor decided that there should be a way to measure time. He told the animals they were to compete in a race. The first twelve animals would be rewarded by having a year named after them. On the day of the race, all the animals lined up beside the river. The rat and the cat, who were good friends, were worried as they were not very good at swimming. They asked the ox if he would carry them across on his back.

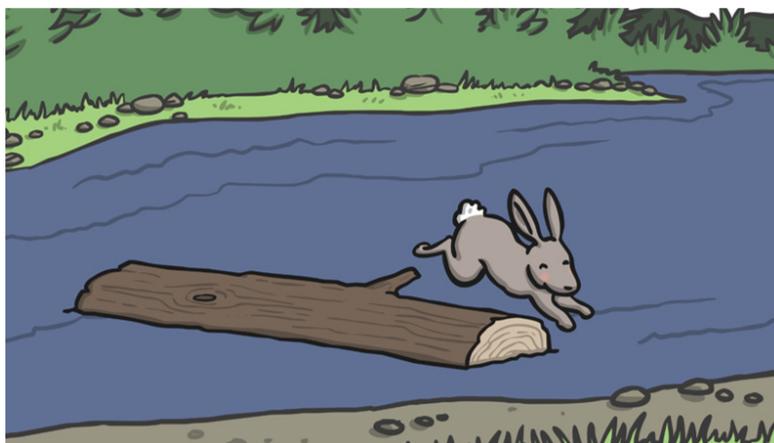

The ox agreed and they jumped on his back. When the race started, the rat and the cat were very pleased that the ox took the lead. They were almost across at the other side when the rat pushed the cat into the water and jumped on the bank to finish first!

“Well done!” said the Jade Emperor to the rat. “The first year of the Zodiac will be named after you.” The poor ox was tricked into second place and so the second year of the Zodiac was named after him.

Shortly after, the exhausted tiger arrived on the river bank. Swimming the river had been very difficult, as he had to fight strong currents.

The next to arrive was the rabbit, who hadn't swum across but hopped across on some stepping stones and then onto a floating log which carried him to the river bank. “I shall call the fourth year after you,” the surprised Jade Emperor said.

Taking fifth place was the dragon. “How come you didn’t win the race, when you could fly across?” the Emperor asked.

“I stopped to help some animals,” the dragon explained.

Heading towards the line was the horse. Just as he thought the horse would cross, the sly snake wriggled around one of the horse’s hooves. The horse was so surprised that he jumped backwards, giving the snake a chance to slither forward and take sixth place. The horse made it for seventh place.

Not long afterwards, a raft arrived carrying the monkey, the rooster and the goat. They explained how they had worked as a team to get across. The Emperor was very pleased. He said the goat would be the eighth year, the monkey the ninth and the rooster the tenth.

The next animal to arrive was the dog. “What took you so long, when you’re such a good swimmer?” asked the Emperor.

“The river was so clean that I decided to have a bath along the way,” the dog explained. He was rewarded with the eleventh year.

There was one place left in the Zodiac and the Emperor wondered who the last winner would be. All of a sudden, the pig turned up. “You took a long time. What happened?” the Emperor asked.

“I was hungry and stopped to eat, then I fell asleep,” said the pig.
The twelfth year was given to the pig.

As for the cat, he finally crawled out of the river, but was too late to have a year named after him. He was very angry with the rat for pushing him in and, since then, cats have never been friends with rats!

Correllians around the World

by Lady WolfCiara

In this series of articles, we are going to focus on a Correllian Member and learn a little bit more about the named person. I do hope that this will shine a light to all of those who are giving of themselves to the Tradition.

This month, we are going to talk with Bella SilverRaven, or as she is really named: Betina Solveig Isabella Domdal, born and raised in Denmark.

Her first name is Betina Solveig Hansen, the youngest of twin girls, so she her name got to start with B. 'Solveig' is from her grand-mother. She got the name 'Domdal' from her 1st marriage which produced her two children: Mathias age 14, and Julie age 12. Her second husband, whom she met through her work, is named Anders, and he is 45. She has kept the last name from her 1st marriage, but also says that if her new husband wants her to take his last name she would do it.

She was raised in Kolding until she moved to Fyn in 1997 for a period of 5 years during her education as an office assistant. Here she met her ex-husband and moved back to Kolding with him in 2002, bought a house in Bjert, got divorced in 2012, moved back to Kolding alone with her two children to live in a little apartment for 4 years. Together with Anders she bought a lovely old school in Binderup on the countryside in late fall 2017. In a couple of years they have renovated the whole building.

The family has four cats. Yes, one for each family-member! Red cat Oscar belongs to Anders, grey cat Katti belongs to Mathias, white cat Pixie belongs to Julie and black cat Crystal belongs to Bella.

Bella is 43 years old, but of course doesn't feel it. She says that she is a "girly girl" and loves pink, believes in vampires, unicorns and fairytales. The name 'Isabella' was incorporated in 2009 after the 'Twilight' saga. The raven is her birth totem, or spirit animal, as she use to say. She had a connection with it even before she knew what a spirit animal was. Mostly she wanted it in all her journals and Book of Shadows. 'Silver' is because she likes the color and 'Bella' is for the obvious reason.

Her husband doesn't share her beliefs but supports her nevertheless. Her two children are often participating in home rituals with her, both indoors and outside.

They also accompany her when she does all sorts of craft things, like making wands, fairy ribbons, water jars, bottles with stones from special places, salt dough figurines, amulets and so much more.

She says that she is a very silent and reluctant girl and always has been. She has difficulties with being social, but isn't lonely as she enjoys times alone doing all of her projects. Her kids tell her often that she is the world's greatest mom. She speaks fluent German and English and after 17 years as a purchasing assistant in the same company she's just been promoted to accountant. She tries to dare herself to be more creative. She has never had any skill at drawing or painting, but every time a project is a success she grows a little.

Sometimes she wishes she could have been something else. Or something more. Or someone else, she doesn't know exactly. She wishes she had been a writer. Not an author telling stories, just a writer playing with words. It is her biggest regret that it didn't happen. It's something she's been thinking about lately.

Her other interest in Wicca-related things are: stones, crystals, books, oracles and tarot decks, Gods and Goddesses, grimoires, spirit animals, herbs, candles and other realms. She would say everything. Her favorite divination tool is without a doubt the tarot which she always uses for her yearly spreads. She also likes oracle decks and that is what she buys the most. She has between 50 and 60 different decks and at some point she would like to make her own deck. But not to publish, just for personal use.

She discovered Wicca for the first time sitting on her sofa in her apartment after her divorce in 2012, whilst looking at something on the computer. She doesn't remember what she read unfortunately, but she remembers the feeling. Like she found what was missing. After some weeks or month, she searched on Facebook and got into a couple of groups and it was the one in Esbjerg where she met her dearest friend, Janni, and they connected instantly. Janni knew about Witch School and asked her if she wanted to study with her as Janni had tried 5 years earlier but couldn't keep focus and she needed a study companion to keep her going, so Bella said 'yes'. Sadly, her friend gave up, but Bella kept going.

Bella has been with the Correllian Tradition for maybe 5-6 years or so. It's actually difficult for her to remember exactly. She holds the 1st Degree within the tradition, and says that if she is lucky, she will have the Second Degree this year. She just needs to do the offline clergy test, Ritual in Theory and Practice, Spells for the Second Degree, State Robes and Comparative Religions. And then the final project which she is very excited about. She can never remember which Temple or Shrines or Orders she is a member of because she haven't had time to use any of them yet. She has studied other online courses, like Temple of Isis and Becoming a Sea Priestess.

We thank Bella SilverRaven for her time to answer our question for us. Hoping for continued Blessings, for her in the Wicca-path, and Correllian Tradition, that she is leading.

The Wandering Wiccan:

Perfume Pagoda Pilgrimage Vietnam

Located in the Huong Tich mountains near Hanoi, Vietnam, Chùa Hương (Huong Pagoda (meaning Perfume Pagoda in English)) is a complex of Buddhist temples and shrines that draws pilgrims from all over Vietnam.

At the heart of the complex is an inner temple, Chua Trong, located inside Huong Tich Cave.

The original temple structure dates back to the 15th century but was ‘recently’ discovered about 2000 years ago by a monk meditating at the site. He named the site after a mountain in Tibet where legend claims Buddah practiced asceticism. Over the next 2000 years, structures were added, along with statues, stone steps and a bell tower. Sadly, some of the original structures were damaged by war but have been rebuilt in the last 30 or 40 years.

The temples offer many practices for pilgrims, mostly Buddhist but also animist or an incorporation of more popular, ‘formal’ religions. The main pilgrimage season is during the Huong Pagoda festival. Many hundreds of thousands of pilgrims descend on Huong Lich cave and the other temples in the complex to pay respects to Buddah and to pray for a prosperous year, and it can become very, VERY crowded! The festival takes place on the 15th day of the 1st lunar month (between mid-February and mid-March), but officially starts on 15th February. Pilgrims will start to arrive from as early as the middle of January up until the middle of March. I was lucky enough to attend late January (thanks to China Spring Festival school holidays!) so whilst there were many others there it wasn’t overly crowded. The experience was more enjoyable for lack of crowds! Most pilgrims will arrive by road, but some (like me) take the opportunity to row along the Yen river and then hike the one hour trek to the temple, surrounded by rice fields, mountains and limestone cave systems.

The first port of call is Den Trinh (Registration Shrine). Here, we lit incense for the God of the Mountain. We then progressed onwards to Thien Tru Pagoda before rowing to our destination, Tro Wharf, at the foot of Huong Mountain.

From there we began the 120 step climb to Huong Lich cave and the Perfume Pagoda. The climb was intense but spectacular. The mountainous scenery took my breath away and I was glad of that – I could use ‘I need to stop and appreciate this view’ as an excuse for catching my breath! Throughout the climb there were many opportunities to make food offerings to deities and light incense.

For young Vietnamese, the festival is also considered an opportunity to begin ‘courtship’, and rare, expensive meat, such as deer, porcupine and wild pig are on the menu! I tried the wild pig (delicious!) but could not bring myself to eat Bambi or what, for me, is a rat with spikes on it! The day was long and exhausting, but I would not have passed up this opportunity for the world! Am just very, VERY glad that I’d arranged a car to drive back to Hanoi rather than row back up the river!

Tarot of the Month

by Lady WolfCiara

The World

Surrounded by the four symbolic beings, the world dances the eternally magical dance. Syntheses of the elements; unity, success, understanding, perfect application of what was previously learned, forgetting the center, fear of devotion, restricted views, selfishness, lack of commitment.

Prediction for March 2021

For the coming month, there are a lot that we accomplish and can put to an end to. Success s on the uprising, but it also comes with an smaller effort in doing so. Although, in the end it is a great month and one will look back and see this month as a truly successful one.

Crafting with Bella

My "Witchy" Room

Some people are really lucky to have their own witchy room. For me, I dream of a little cottage in the garden close to nature and life.

Until then, we have some spare rooms in our old house and I have turned a double room into my witchy room.

It just needed a little paint and new floors. We took away the door to the back staircase which is not in use and made the second room bigger.

It was a bit difficult to furnish. You have to decide what you want, what is most important. The first and most important thing for me, was an alter where I can perform my rituals.

After that, I wanted a "Goddess temple" for meditation and relaxation. The curtain keeps it more private and makes it really cozy.

And of course, a working space and somewhere to sit and read all my books.

All my drawers are already filled with herbs and all kinds of materials for crafting my own things.

It's a lovely little place for me to go to either alone or with my kids. It smells wonderful of incense. I feel very blessed to have this possibility in my own home. I hope the outdoor cottage will be just as wonderful when that time comes and I'm going to tear this room down.

Unpredictability, pointing to a need to understand the exact limitations; situations outside one's own control; try new things; structuring and balancing dimension; rainbow Rune, representing a heavenly light generating power.

Prediction for March 2021

For the coming month, there will be some things that seems like they just fall down in your lap, and are having some difficulties to the get it in the right pace in life, again; many things happen and it is not of any doings on your part; you notice that things finally are starting to go your way.

Wolfciara's Wiccan World

By Lady WolfCiara

Merry meet my fellow Wiccans and Welcome to my little corner of the Wiccan World.

So have yet another month passed by, and with that, I had to realize that one of my friend, died suddenly and was only 48 years of age. It was. and still are, a hard blow on me, and with Corona rummaging around our World, one are not able to go to his funeral, and take a last farewell of him, either. We are a group of three friends, that can help out in the joint mourning, we are sharing amongst us. Also, be there for one another when the anxiety and sorrow is unbearable, and have an ear free to listen, and understand the things we go through.

On another note, so am I happy and excited, as I finally have got myself a homepage for my Swedish WolfLight Temple. Yes, it is my Temple, within the Tradition, I am talking about. The address is: www.swedishwolflighttemple.webber.se, and have had it for a while but have recently started it up, again. I do have a page on Facebook for the temple, for chats and more interaction, than on the homepage. The address to that one is: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/839050856868366>.

The weather here, has been cold days, and cold nights. We have had snow on the ground, for the first three weeks, and the snow-mud came the last week of February, and it's not a favourite season, as much dirt and other stuff is coming in, from outside. I know that the spring is on the way, so I bear with it, and try to keep a positive attitude. It is hard though, as there are much more darkness outside when the snow is gone, and depressing thoughts coming closer. Which is even tougher, as we are in Corona-times.

Have continued with taking more lesson-test, on WitchSchool, and are enrolled in Temple of Isis, Mentor201 and Comparative religions, at the moment. Learning heaps and heaps, each week. Have actually begun, to find my way around there, now. It is not so hard, when you are getting into it. It's like riding a bike, it's hard in the beginning, but when you master it. You can't quite remember how hard you had to train and train, until it was there by will and could think about other things while on a bike-ride. Even if one has been away from bike-riding for a while, you quickly master it, again.

I have started to take, nearly every day, walks outside, as I have some weight to lose, and also that I have a friend that also wants to lose some weight, too. We have just recently started our walks, but it's fun and have noticed that I lose about 1-2 kilogram, each week. So I'm proud of what I have accomplished, as I have begun my journey to get a more healthy weight. Have already lost 30 kilograms during a period of about 5 months and hoping to lose more each week.

During the month, have one of my nieces celebrated her 7th birthday, and had a lovely day with friends and one family-member, as it's Corona still going on. It was her uncle, and he came with a present that, she really liked.. She got a watch with built-in mobile. These wonderous things that we have now a days, huh? She has called me a couple of times, to talk to her Senga, as she call me. Senga means aunt/ie in her mother language: Luganda. She has a sister that celebrates her 8th birthday on March 25th, and will receive a similar one, but purple, as it is her favourite colour. She is even more bonded with me, so I am bracing myself, to see how much she will call me, and have secrets told, that she wants to have with me. More on that, next month, on how that went.

I have, per usual, attending the online rituals, and it's always so much energy flowing around during them. One can wonder if it is possible to get a ritual online, as one in person, with all the energy that is needed for it. Believe me, they are equally energetic, and are building up the energy, that one wants to raise during it. Can you notice, that I am truly addicted to the rituals, and enjoys every minute spent attending one? Of course I am, and always looking forward to the next one. We do have some chats afterwards, so it is a social gathering also, and not just the ritual straight up and nothing more.

Take care until next time.

Blessed be all of you.

Love and light, hugz and blessings.
